

Clay

Clay - The United States is the world's leading producer of clay, and with Colorado's abundant resources, the state plays a major role in clay production. Most of Colorado's clay resources can be found in the eastern portions of Colorado. Clay is a major component in the production of many industrial and commercial products, such as pottery, porcelain, brick, dishware, paper production, chemical filtering, pharmaceuticals, building materials (i.e. cement), and construction.
